The primary goal of the Special Collections Fellows project is to provide our teaching faculty with a modality that will significantly impact the undergraduate (and graduate) experience at Georgia College. By engaging faculty who wish to provide students with an extraordinary opportunity to touch, analyze, and interpret primary source materials in their classes, Special Collections supports excellence in teaching, scholarship and creative endeavor at GC.

Meetings will be conducted as discussion/workshop activities. Core topics will include (not limited to):
Understanding archives
Knowledge creation and transmission
Reflective discourse
Experiential learning
Assessment of learning outcomes

Number of discussions/workshops, their duration, learning outcomes, etc will be mutually agreed upon at the first meeting.
